

KIDNAPPED BABY'S MOTHER GETS TWO RANSOM DEMANDS

Blackhand Notes to Mrs. Wentz Threaten Violence if Money Is Not Paid.

Mrs. Eliza Wentz, No. 735 Home Street, Bronx, received a letter this morning demanding $500 for the safe return of her stolen baby and threatening that if she failed the child would be killed with a hammer and its head sent to her by mail.

There were two letters, both apparently from the same person. One demanded the money and gave detailed instructions for its delivery. The other was marked with a skull and cross bones and a black hand. It referred to the first letter and said: "No fooling—no marked bills—no police."

Mrs. Wentz was made almost hysterical by the two letters, but she courageously turned them both over to the police, and detectives are working on them. They have tried to convince Mrs. Wentz that the threats will not be carried out.

The baby, Arthur, eight weeks old, was stolen about ten days ago from its carriage in front of a Bronx department store. The police since then have made no progress in the search, and Mr. and Mrs. Wentz have been relying chiefly on their own efforts and the newspapers. The police to-day followed their "easy-going" policy and refused to discuss the new development. Mrs. Wentz did not make public the instructions she had received for paying the ransom demanded.

A. E. F. Boys Willing to Go to Jail To Prove Love for Women Folk

Anxiety to Learn to Make Bead Bags Leads to Strange Complications.

Miss Gertrude M. Farrell of No. 114 West 114th Street has learned something new about the American soldier. He is willing to go to jail—"be thrown in," in his own language—to learn how to do things which will convince his work-a-folks at home that he really loves them (or her).

Miss Farrell was a teacher of the blind in the New York public schools before she volunteered to be sent into the A. E. F. as a teacher of war blinded soldiers. After all the blind soldiers were sent home she was asked to remain and continue her work among the men disabled from other causes than eye trouble.

"I went into the wards and found them lying flat on their backs staring at the beaver board ceilings and more often than not talking to themselves, which isn't good for the human body. And when I asked them if they wanted to learn bead work they woke up and looked at me as though I were a booby-boo from out of a nightmare and then they burst out laughing and showed me their big clumsy hands and roared like babies the first time they understand they have been tickled.

"So then I'd tell them that if they really wanted to they could make one of those bead bags like those the other fellows brought back from Paris and send it to their mother. It wasn't long after that before they went to work.

"But the real trouble came when, mistakenly, I began to concentrate on the naughty boys who were put in the prison ward of the hospital because they were just too nervous and cross to be good. They seemed to need occupation more than the others. But when one of the men who had been 'thrown in' tried to smuggle out a note (which was confiscated) in which he said to another buddy: 'You better do something to get in here even if it's going A. W. O. L. because they learn you how to make those bead bags that you look at in Paris and can't buy because you're blown all your jack!'

IF THIN AND NERVOUS, TRY PHOSPHATE

Nothing Like Plain Blue-Phosphate to Put on Firm, Healthy Flesh and to Increase Strength and Nerve Force.

When one stops to consider the host of thin people who are searching continually for some method by which they may increase their flesh to normal proportions by the filling out of very bony, protruding ribs and protruding spine with protruding abdomen it is no wonder that many people from time to time in public print, attributed to various and subtle causes in fact that the lack of sufficient phosphorus in the human system is very largely responsible for this condition. Experiments have demonstrated beyond question of doubt that a body deficient in phosphorus becomes nervous, sickly and thin. A noted author and professor in his book "Chemistry and Food Nutrition," published in 1918, says: "The phosphorus required for the normal nutrition of man is seriously underestimated in many of our standard text books." It seems to be well established that this by the use of an organic phosphate known as Blue-Phosphate. Through the assimilation of this phosphate by the individual the phosphorus content when absorbed in the amount normally required by the body and mind. Nerve tension disappears, strength replaces weakness, energy, and the whole body soon takes on a glow of perfect health and vigor and doing. It is well and strength to be up Pharmacists, Penn.
